of East High School

Our Heritage

As another group of students leave East High to go out into the world, they take with them many happy memories of their high school days. But even more important than the memories which they will take with them is the spirit of East High which will be a part of them for the rest of their life. This spirit is an inheritance bequeathed to every student in East High by the alumni. It is something which can never be lost or forgotten.

East High has always had this wonderful school spirit. It was this enthusiastic spirit which made it possible for Miss May Goodrell to plan and direct the building of a school such as this. It is responsible also for the football, basketball, track, swimming, and other athletic teams which have always won victories for East High.

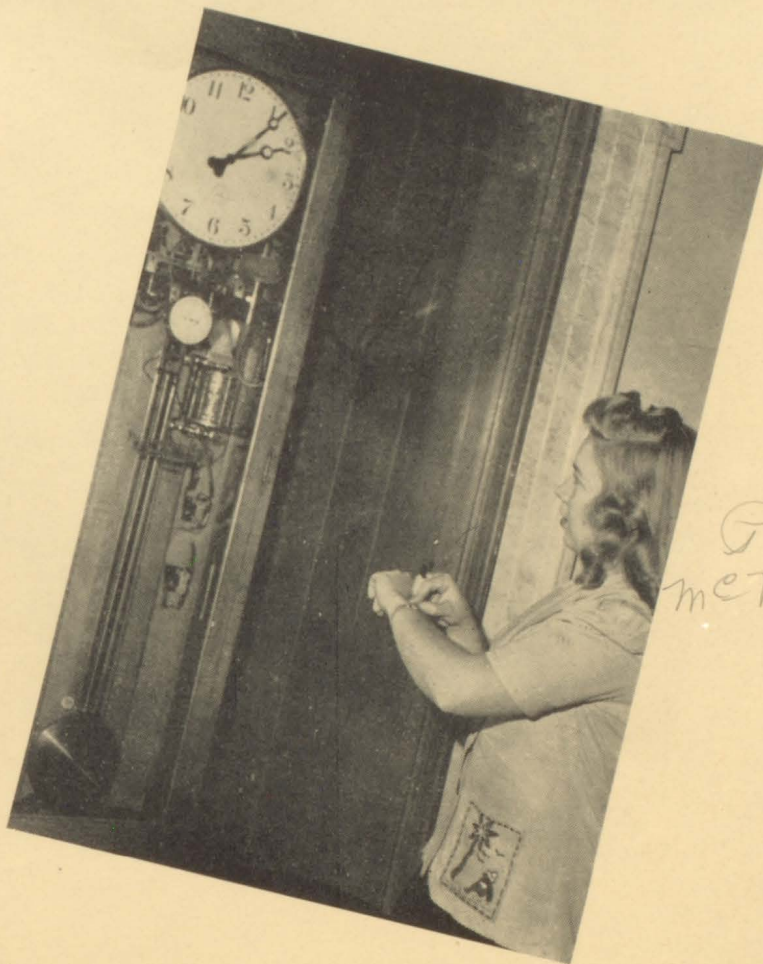

Year after year this enthusiastic spirit of co-operation may be traced. Each year the graduating class hands it down to the succeeding class. All of these deeds which have made East High the school it is today are but the product of this spirit.

Memories

In the mind of the senior leaving East High there are memories of his high school days. Some of them are humorous, some serious, but all are cherished as a part of their life which can never be lived over again.

Maybe the senior will remember his first school party and his first big date, or maybe it will be the first football game he ever attended as a student in East High. Many will remember the good times they have had under the oak tree in front of East. Many will remember the certain way in which the students walk around the halls in the morning until the warning bell rings.

With all of these happy memories, together with a broad store of knowledge, and a character suitable to a useful citizen, East High sends out into the world another graduating class. This class will have a hard time, it is true, in making their mark in the world; but East High feels that maybe their task will be lightened a little by the heritage which they take with them.

Administrators

Upon Mr. O. G. Prichard, principal, falls the difficult task of arranging and managing the complex program of our school. Mr. Prichard works with the teachers in directing the many activities of East High.

Besides acting as vice-principal, Mr. D. Q. Williams must divide his time between helping boys solve their personal problems and arranging and directing East High's competitive athletic program.

To Miss Agnes Helmreich, girls' advisor, go many girls to talk over with her their problems needing adult advice. Miss Helmreich also directs the school's social life, clubs, and student council, and advises the P.T.A.

Faculty

"Respect thy faculty that forms thy judgment."

These words are truer than many of us have ever realized. The teachers do form our judgment. From kindergarten in grade school to a senior in high school, teachers have been directing, guiding, and influencing our lives.

The teacher's day does not end with the fifth period, but continues on many more hours, both at school and at home. A teacher is always ready to give assistance after school to a lagging pupil and willingly do all in his power to aid the student.

The teachers' duties include not only their classroom activities but school activities as well. Our fine assemblies are the result of the hard labor of our faculty. The hilarious pep assemblies, touching Thanksgiving programs, and reverent and beautiful Christmas pageants could not be except for the diligent work of teacher committees.

Clubs, such a rich part of any student's life, are sponsored by various teachers who assume the responsibility. Working with the club officers to promote an interesting semester program comes in this category.

For thirteen years about seven hours daily, a half of our waking time, we have been in the company of teachers. Many of these teachers we shall remember on into adulthood and recall qualities in them which made a deep imprint on our lives. The East High faculty is made of such teachers as these. We should be proud of them; few schools are so fortunate.

The faculty has made East High what it is today. For it is they who have inspired the graduates to accomplish great deeds. These actions have proven so noticeable that any graduate of East High is looked upon with admiration. The faculty has molded our characters and our ideals to a high standard representative of East High.

Class Will

We, the members of the most unique graduating class of East High, the class of January, 1946, being of sound mind and legal age, do hereby declare this our last and only will and testament.

To all East High students we bequeath the happiness and success we have enjoyed, the goals we have attained, and the same deep and abiding love for all home-work that we have always held in our hearts.

Wilma De Young bequeathes her pep to Jacky Gibson.

Darlene Bradshaw leaves her accompanying ability to Mary Anne Gebhardt.

Marian Baumeister bestows her charm upon Patsy Greider.

Arnie Caplan leaves his leadership to the next senior class president.

Sally Rettig leaves her cute clothes to Maxine Gunn.

Colleen Haley regretfully leaves the scrumptious athletes to Gloria Spillers. (Please take good care of them, Gloria!)

Mary Lee Wright gives to Ann Hagan that heart-warming smile. Hope that doesn't mean you'll stop smiling, Mary.

Lawrence Porter leaves his handsomeness to Crom Campbell. (We ask you, is that fair?)

Delores Fields should really keep on writing those excellent essays.

Laura Stieglitz would like to share her intelligence and capability with Shirley Stephens—(What is this, a conspiracy?)

Dorothy Schoch wills her dependability to Phyllis Carlson.

Dick Schneider bequeaths to John Lingenfelter his versatility.

Phyllis Reese bestows upon Dorothy Reuter that gorgeous red hair.

Darlene Roseberry leaves her beauty for us to remember.

Richard Pinegar wills his diligence to Paul Erickson.

Mary Kramme bestows her ability to play tennis upon Ruth Weeks.

Gerald Barnes would like to leave his fine appearance to Byron Werges, but Byron doesn't seem to need it.

Marion Armstrong wills her artistic ability to Dorothy Kranovich.

James Brown wills his football ability to Bob Peters.

Ned Newton leaves Jeanette Heaberlin—and then what?

Norma Mackin wills that fatal appeal to Bernadine Haltom who really doesn't need it.

Charles Bean and Donna Chamberlin are both leaving, but we don't know who's taking whom.

Alec Rapoport leaves his ability to converse with Richard Shropshire. (Did we say converse?)

Marjorie Burdock wills her sweetness to Betty Augustine.

Marvel Conklin is willing to share some of her stenographic ability with other up-and-coming stenographers.

Bonnie Campbell wants to keep her many talents. (And Jim, too!)

Daniel Ellis wills his capability to Bob Mohr.

Betty Dennis leaves her tininess to Patricia Thomas. (They're both small but mighty.)

Marty Carlson hopes the basketball team will be able to do as well without him as it has with him. (We doubt it!)

Vera Jean Ferger passes on her singing ability to June Dwyer.

Ellsworth Johnson leaves Elaine Clarke, but stay away, fellas.

Barbara Lindquist takes with her those happy memories of Niagara Falls.

Sheldon Biber bequeaths his witty remarks to Jim Gousseff, so beware!

Doris Tokheim leaves her editorship of the Quill to the next mighty executive with the hope you'll enjoy it as she has.

Thomas Wheatly wills his track ability to Bob Anderson. (Better start practicing, Marge!)

Betty Jo Ward takes with her ever so many hearts—and maybe the class funds, too, since she's treasurer.)

Jerry Stoner leaves his way with the ladies to all other lady-killers in East High. (Mighty generous of you, Jerry!)

Maxine Hockmuth and Pauline Plum relinquish the candy counter to some other sweeties.

Kenneth See leaves his fine home room spirit and helpfulness to the next eager beaver in 104.

Mary Ann Hansen leaves Polly to carry on for East High and keep the senior B boys happy.

Bill Gordon bequeaths his quiet manner to Ralph Lecky.

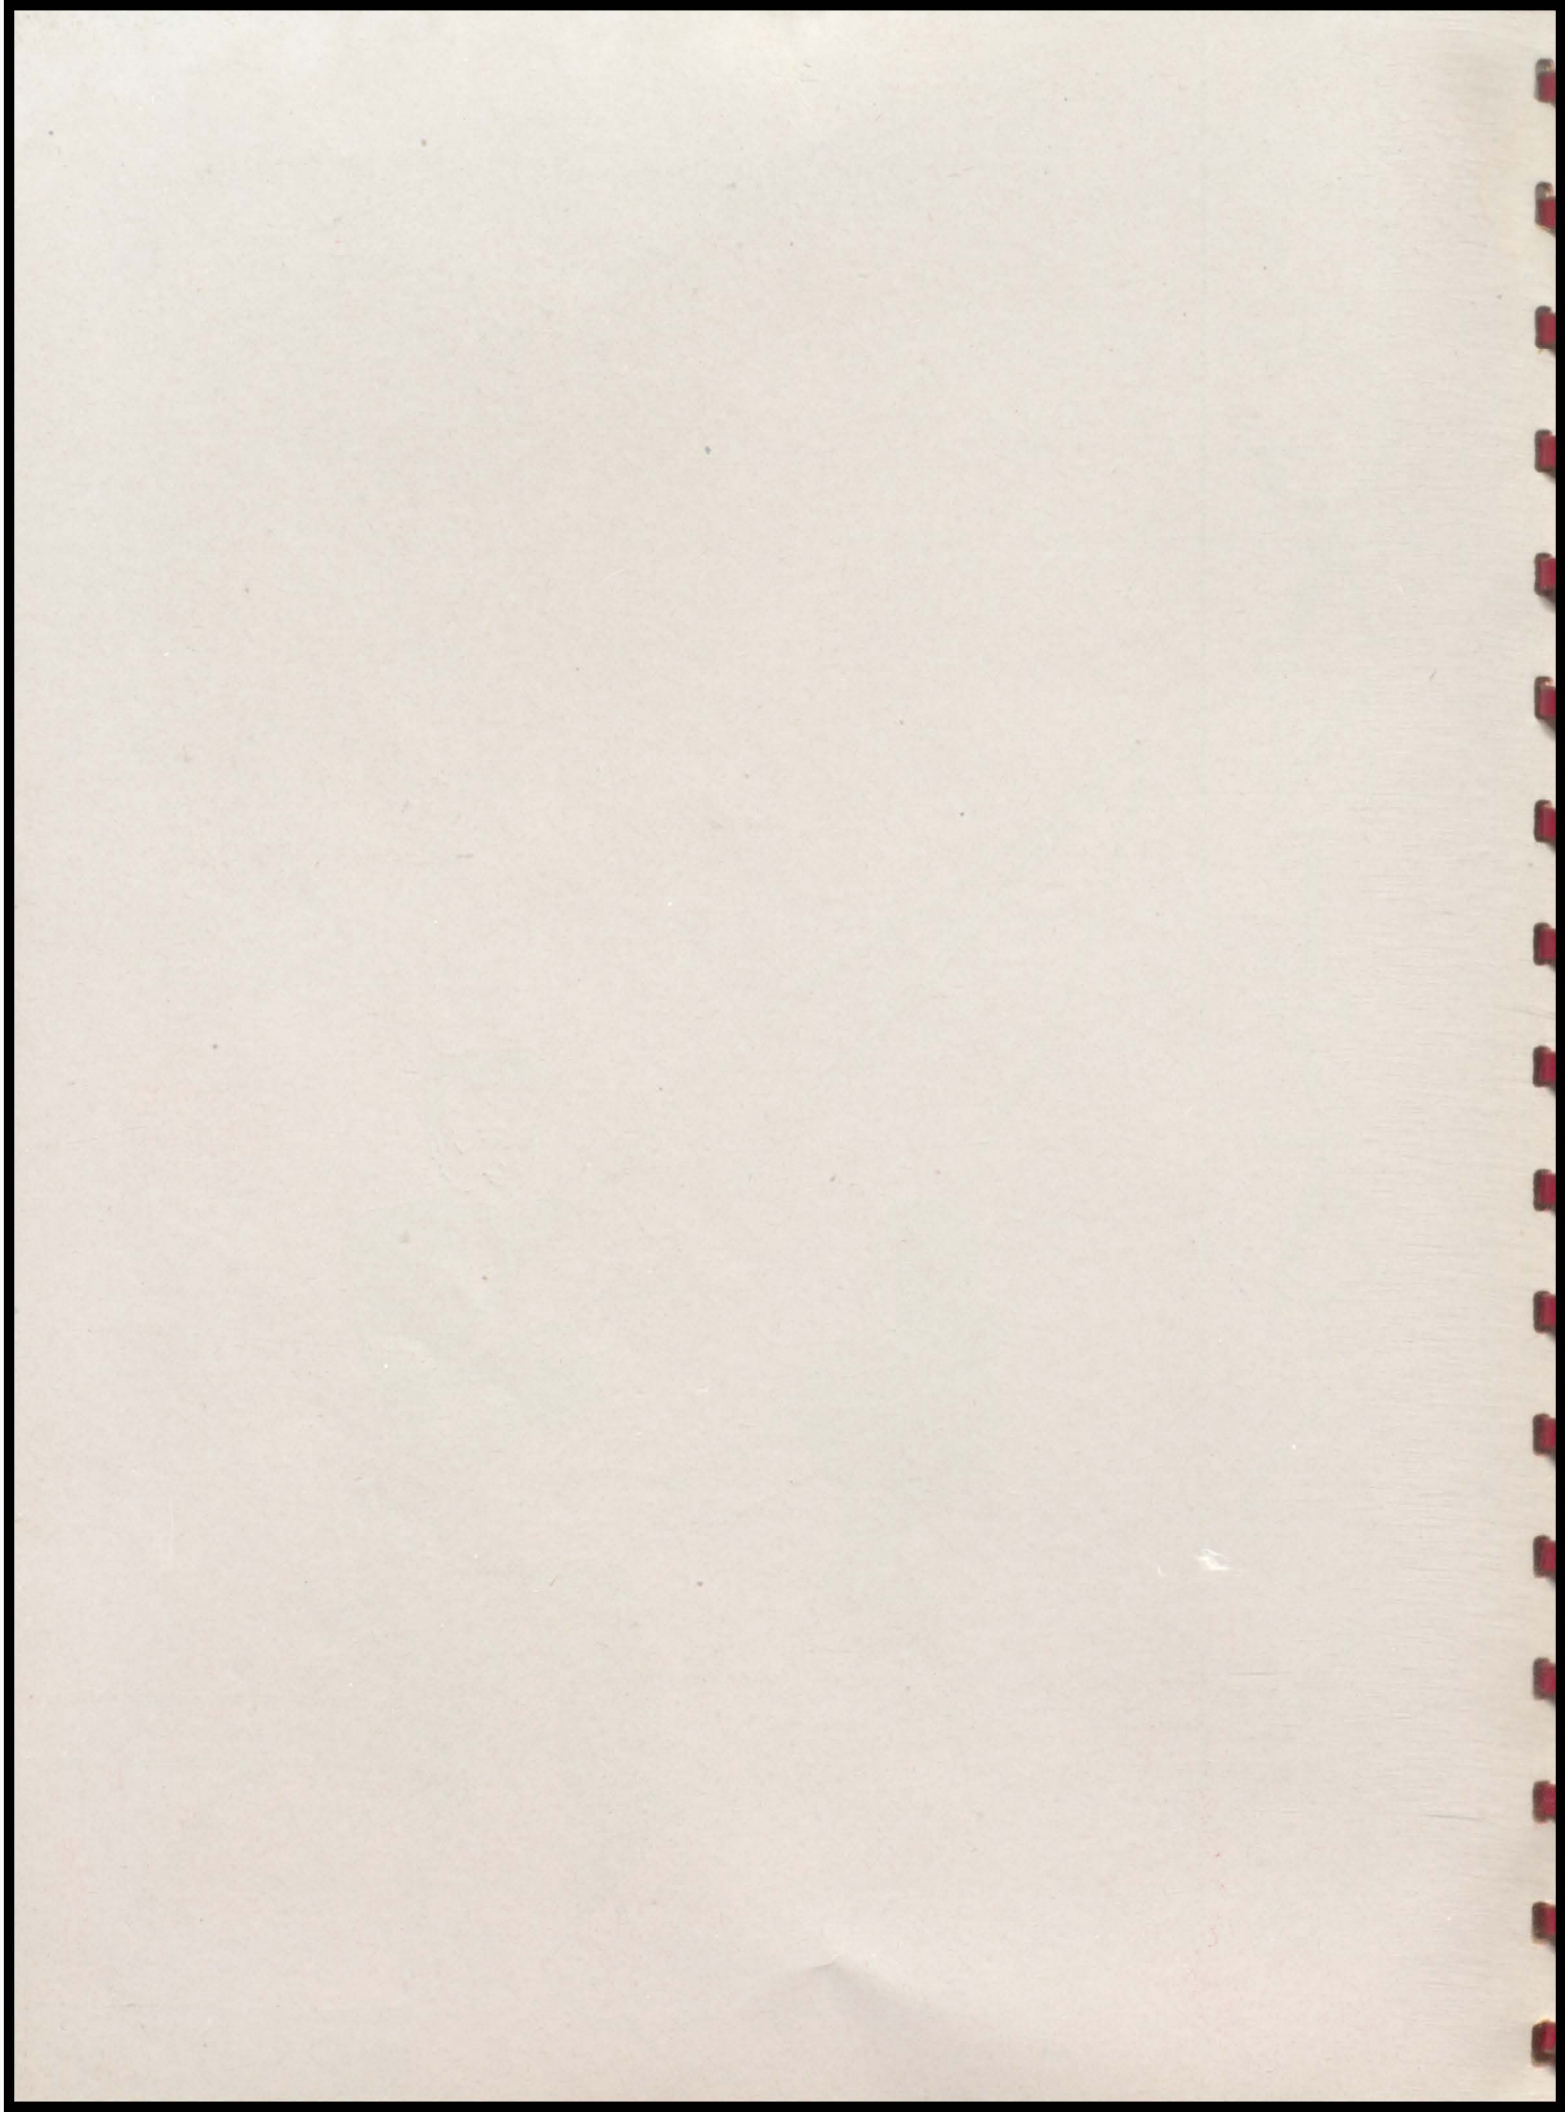

Ray Smith leaves his vitality to Louis Smith. (Don't forget your vitamin pills and milk shakes, Louie!)

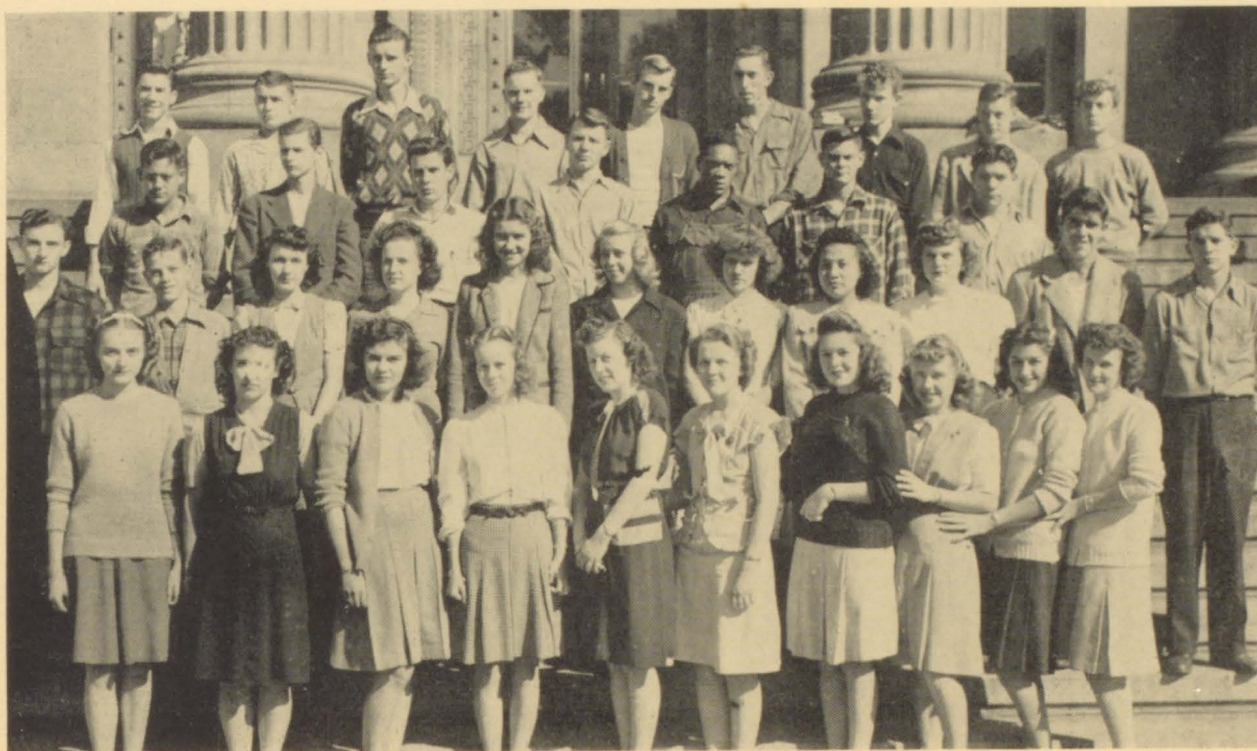

Therefore in witness thereof, we have hereunto set our hands, and caused the Great Seal of the Graduating Class of January, 1946, to be affixed.

Done this Fifteenth day of December, in the Year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five, and of this school, the seventy-seventh in the city of Des Moines, County Polk, Iowa (Zone No. 16).

Student Council

The student council is the governing body of East High and can be called the backbone of the school. At the beginning of each semester every home-room elects either a boy or girl who the students think is capable of representing them in school affairs. This year the group is led by Jerry Stoner, as president; Jim Hedlund, as vice-president; and Joan Armann, as secretary; with Miss Agnes Helmreich, as the council advisor.

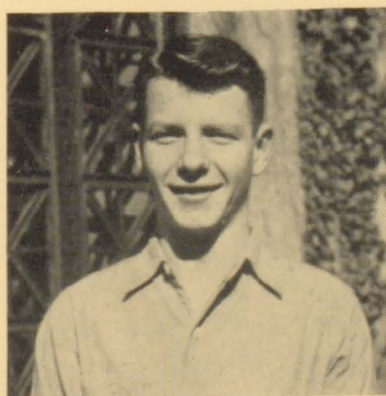

If any school activity needs the student body's cooperation, it is promoted by the support of the student representatives. Student opinions are brought out and discussed at the meetings, giving every point the most careful consideration. All points discussed at the council meetings are reported to the home-rooms. If some student has a proposal or suggestion for the betterment of the school and students, he may take it to his representative, who will relay it to the council for action.

The council is divided into various committees, each one covering a certain phase of school life. Some of the council doings are the P.T.A. drive, the Community Chest drive, the Scroll drive, and the selling of tickets for the all-school play. The duties of the council are many and the responsibilities great.

The Staff

This year's Quill is a product of the labors of some fifteen senior students who work on the Quill during the fourth hour. The staff was chosen from a group of students recommended by their English teachers.

The Quill Staff this semester is made up of nearly all new members. Doris Tokheim, editor-in-chief; Dan Ellis, co-editor; and Alec Rapoport are the old members on the staff.

Working on the various divisions of the Quill have been the following persons: Introduction—Annabel Green and Marjorie Jenkins; Seniors—Richard Shropshire, Alec Rapoport, and Gloria Spillers; Organizations—Peggie McGillivray and Ellen Jensen; School Life—Bob Mohr and Alice Ammentorp; Advertising—Marian Rasmussen and Jim Gousseff; and Sports—Byron Werges and John Lingenfelter.

The students working on each section are responsible for making page lay-outs, seeing that pictures are taken, and writing copy.

Byron Werges and Jim Gousseff have also helped to put out the Quill by patiently and faithfully taking pictures, while Betty Jo Ward, a 12A, has been the typist.

The faithful quartet of faculty advisors who have been responsible in helping to get out the book are Kenneth Stratton, who directs the editorial staff; Harriet Macy, who works with art students to make the cover and page divisions; Charles Springate, supervising advertising; and Leslie Olsen, in charge of business.

The Staff

Containing stories of school news, parties, assemblies, gossip, and news of the servicemen and alumni, the East High Scroll is considered one of the best school newspapers in the country.

Very few of us students realize how much time and effort is spent on one edition of the Scroll. First, each page must be planned and laid out by the page-editors. Next, it must be decided what features and pictures should be included in the page. The articles are then assigned to the different reporters to be written. When they are turned in, they must be proof-read and typed. Lastly, the copy is sent to the printers in one, big rush.

The staff is made up of students enrolled in the Journalism II classes. Although, fifth hour is devoted to the work on the Scroll, much outside time is spent planning and writing stories for the paper. This year the editor-in-chief is Patsy Greider, who supervises and aids news editors Betty Dennis, Gerda Larsen, Pauline Plum, and Shirley Ferguson. The editorial page is planned and edited by Beverly Hatchitt, assisted by Marion Armstrong. Jack Usher has charge of the sports page, with help from Sol Nagorner.

Behind every successful school newspaper must be the guidance and understanding of the faculty advisors. Here in East High, we are very fortunate to have three qualified supervisors. Mr. Kenneth Stratton has for fifteen years been an excellent editorial advisor. He spends much of his spare time working on the paper. The financial business connected with the paper, which is a difficult job, is handled very well by Mr. Leslie Olsen. Miss Harriet Macy does an efficient job of handling the cartoons and those clever drawings which appear in the Scroll.

"Young April"

"Young April", this year's fall play, was presented in the school auditorium, November 16 and 17. The play, which was under the direction of Mrs. Juniata Laser, was a three-act comedy, taking place on the patio of a home in a university town in northern California.

Charles Montgomery and Bonnie Campbell played the parts of Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, while Robert Hedlund and Bernadine Haltom characterized their children, George and Lerry. Other characters in the play were dramatized by Jean Peterson, Jaqueline Gibson, Carolyn Graham, Jack Peters, Jerry Bishop, Bill Daniels, Dale Nystrom, Norma Makin, Jeanette Heaberlin, Mary Ann Shockly, Judy Green, and Jerry Pike.

Band Leaders

This year the two snappy, colorful leaders of East High's band are Dick Caplan and Homer Day. Dick Caplan is the student director of the band who led all of their appearances at the football games.

Homer Day, our drum major, gave signals to the band during all their performances. He has been assisted by nine drum majorettes whose marching and twirling ability has made everyone proud of them.

Vocal Music

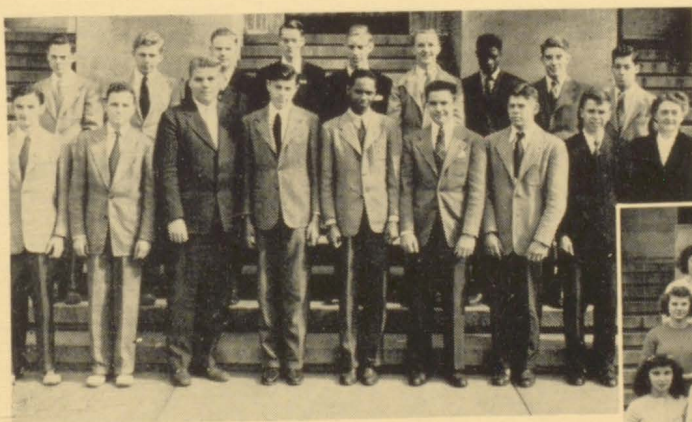

Of all East High School's outstanding groups, the music department is the one most frequently heard from. All the vocal music is under the excellent direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill. The different groups are the choir, the boys' and girls' glee clubs, the girls' sextet and the boys' quartet. These groups are not only called upon to entertain within the school, but also at various performances in the city. We are fortunate again this year to have a girls' sextet and a boys' quartet. It is not always easy to find a group of students whose voices blend so beautifully as these do. East High can be proud to have such talented students.

Choir

The A Cappella choir, under the direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill, is one of East High's most active organizations. This group is chosen largely from chorus one, chorus two, and the boys' and girls' glee clubs.

As in past years, the choir has been much in demand for assemblies and special programs. One of the most outstanding of these programs is the Christmas Nativity, a presentation of Christmas songs done beautifully by the choir each year.

This year, as in years past, East High views its choir with much pride.

Orchestra

Although our orchestra is not so large this year, it is definitely mighty. The thirty-eight members, under the direction of Mr. John McWhirter, provide fine music for the long-hairs of East High.

The outstanding appearances of the orchestra this year were for the school play, commencement exercises, and class night. These performances were enjoyed very much by those who heard them.

East High appreciates the work of this fine organization which supports the school, and thanks them for their fine entertainment.

The Truth About Musicians

Musicians are an oddity to be looked at, wondered at, sympathized with, or admired. People think of musicians in different ways. There are the people who praise and admire them, the people who put up with them, and the people who don't put up with them.

There are just enough musicians in this world that they don't care whether the people love them or not. They can always love each other. Speaking of loving things, there are some musicians who love a particular instrument and feel that it's their "one and only." If it's fifty years old, they still play and handle it as if it were a rare gem. It might be the love of the horn, or they might be just a little bit Scotch.

Another thing that leads us to believe that musicians might all be descendants of Robert Bruce (apologies, Bob) is the way their hair grows 'til it creeps down around their collars. Yes, musicians are quite a sight when they get up to perform with their long hair and odd instruments. Another thing which makes them quite "interesting" is the way they wiggle around, trying to get settled for a big performance. First they have to get their feet in just the right place, then they just sit and squirm until they get in the right position. I guess they don't care much whether they look queer or not.

Of all musicians, the most interesting to watch is the one who thinks he is talented and needs only to know the scale before he achieves fame. A member of this group will sit down, smile at you, and calmly go about murdering your favorite song, while you can only grit your teeth—disgusting, isn't it? Since only a small percentage of the people in this world are musicians, one really should not stay out of public places on their behalf, but a word to the wise—can you imagine a musician's convention?

Instrumental Music

They have rhythm, they have talent. Yes, it is the various instrumental groups at East High that are being referred to. The all-school band is the biggest and most often used group here. It is the one which is continued from year to year, just losing a few one year and gaining new ones at the same time.

There are also the special groups, such as the dance band and cornet trio. These groups are under the excellent supervision of Mr. John Mc-

Whirter. Dick Caplan is the student director of the school band.

This year, to add to the marching band, a group of drum majorettes and one drum major was organized. They are under the direction of Mr. Harold Cunningham. The group of majorettes is composed of Barbara Duvall, Dora Struth, Nadine Ruark, Nancy Smith, LaVeta Fuller, Nitalene Wooderson, Jo Ann Harris, Anna Bell Gardner, and Dianne Simms, the one major being Homer Day.

Movie Operators and Monitors

The members of the movie staff are a very active group of pupils who, under the direction of Mr. Walter Stephens, help to make our lunch hours more enjoyable by taking money and acting as monitors, while the movie operators are in the hot little room up in the balcony, faithfully running our movie. These students are an ever present aid to a pleasanter noon hour.

Wardrobe Girls

The Wardrobe girls, under the direction of Miss Stella Hargis, take charge of costumes which are used in school plays and assemblies. East High owes a debt of gratitude to these girls who so faithfully keep our costumes in order.

STAGE HANDS AND ELECTRICIANS

Stage Hands and Electricians

The stage hands and electricians, who are under the direction of Mr. Wilbur Yount are also an irreplaceable cog in the wheel that puts out all of East High's productions. These boys take charge of the lighting and are responsible for such jobs as raising and dropping the curtains. Although this group receives very little recognition, it is constantly on the job, working for the welfare of our school.

We are also very grateful to Mr. William Hammond and the group of pupils who work under him taking charge of the stage settings and other detail.

Clubs

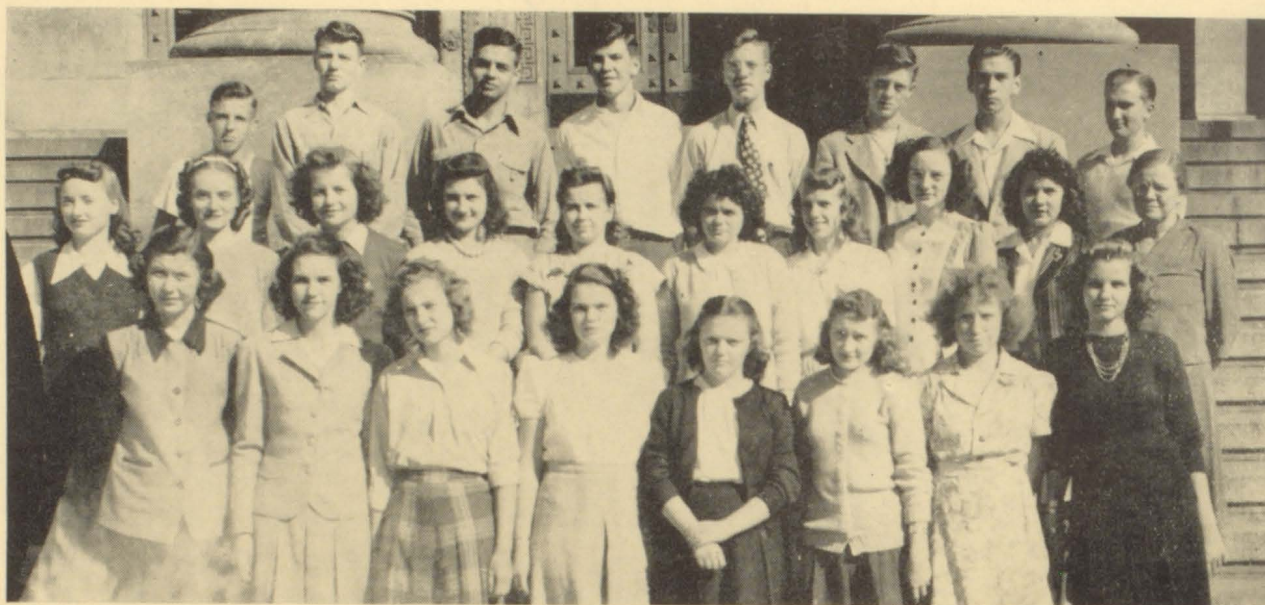

Among the most memorable activities of East High is the pleasant friendship shared by all who partake in the fellowship of the various clubs. The membership in a club, which is considered extra-curricular activity, gives one an opportunity to become better acquainted with fellow students and the sponsors outside the classroom.

In addition to forming new friendships, belonging to a club helps to develop the personality, character, and leadership of the individual. Too, it tends to make the student feel the sense of cooperation, not only at the meetings of the club but also in the classroom and many other places. Although there is a sponsor for every club, the members elect all their own officers—president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Though there are various teachers to supervise the different clubs, Miss Agnes Helmreich, the girls' advisor, is the overseer of all the clubs and their activities. Each student is permitted to join two clubs a semester, one mixed club and one other—boys joining a boys' club, girls joining a girls' club.

Library Staff

The Library staff, under the direction of Miss Carrie Larson, our school librarian, is an ever-ready help to the students of East High. These capable students relinquish their study period to work in the library, filing book cards, checking out books and returning books to the shelves in their proper order.

It is the members of the clerical staff who make out and deliver slips for past due books. The boys who work in the book room are also members of the clerical staff.

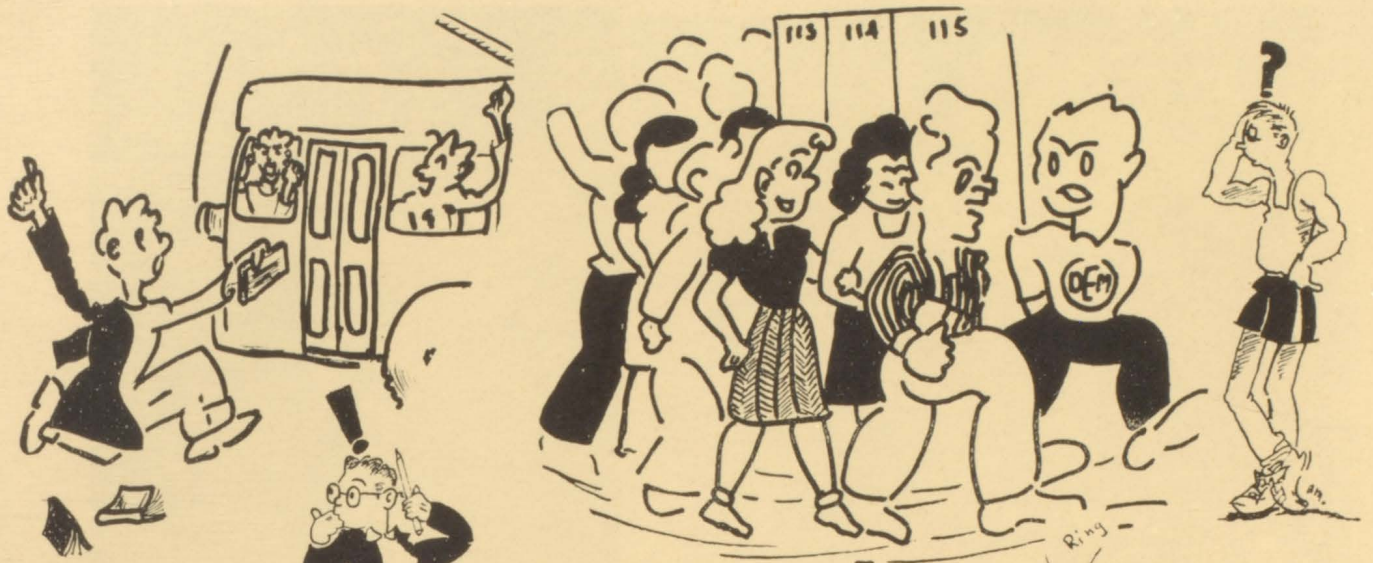

Clerical Staff

East High is proud of its hard working clerical staff. These students, who are all taking business subjects, work in the offices of Mr. Prichard, Miss Helmreich, Mrs. Clark, Miss Hammer and Mr. Williams during their study period. They file, type, take dictation and do numerous other jobs.

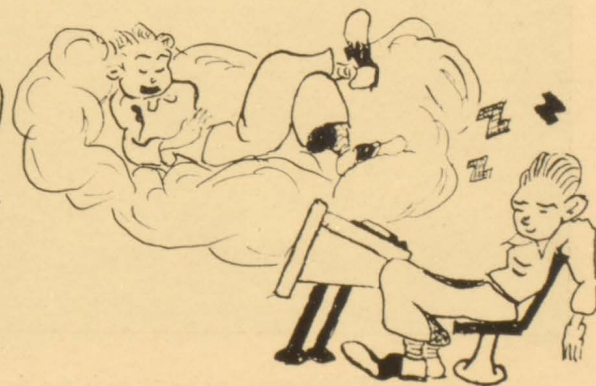

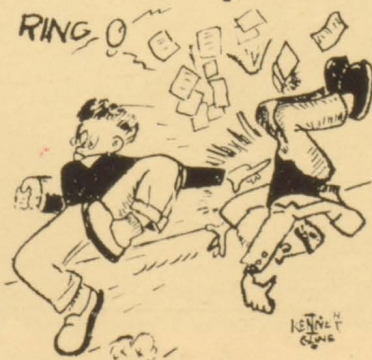

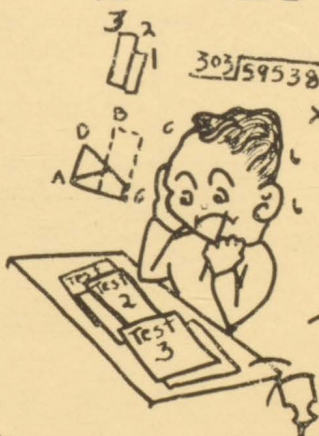

The regular office staff would have a hard time without these students who are willing to give up their study time in order to gain practical experience in the field of work they plan to go into after leaving school.

A DAY IN SCHOOL

Walking to school in the morning can sometimes be one of the most pleasant parts of the day, as is illustrated above.

The halls are always crowded by the many girls who stand at their lockers gazing into the faces of their pin up boys.

8:30 a. m.

Every morning at six o'clock sharp every East High student leaps gayly out of bed, dresses quickly, and greets his mother with a cheery smile. He then eats a nourishing breakfast, and then happily sits down to study his homework for an hour or so.

Naturally, all East High students walk to school. Many of them walk as far as two or three miles both ways. Of course this means starting earlier, but what East High student minds that?

When our favorite Jack or Jane Average Student arrives at "Dear East High," and has put his wraps into his well stuffed locker, he takes his daily stroll around the halls, to see how the buildings and students have prospered during the preceding night.

Suddenly a bell rings, and every Jack and Jane scurries to homeroom, and all are quietly in their seats when the 8:45 bell rings.

During these homeroom periods the homeroom teacher checks to see how many of the scholars have decided to take a vacation. Also during this time, through the bulletin, the pupils find out just what is cookin' around school. The homeroom period is the time during which all the various contests are boosted and conducted.

Frequently, however, these "quiet" intervals are interrupted by the ringing of a bell which causes a stampede and near riot among the usually quiet young people. What was it? Did school dismiss extra early? No, but you guessed it the second time. Yes, it's the assembly. The assemblies are one of the most looked forward to events in the school activities. This is

At 8:45, the home-room period begins. It is at this time that the business of the day is taken up, attendance is taken, bulletins are read, and admits are given.

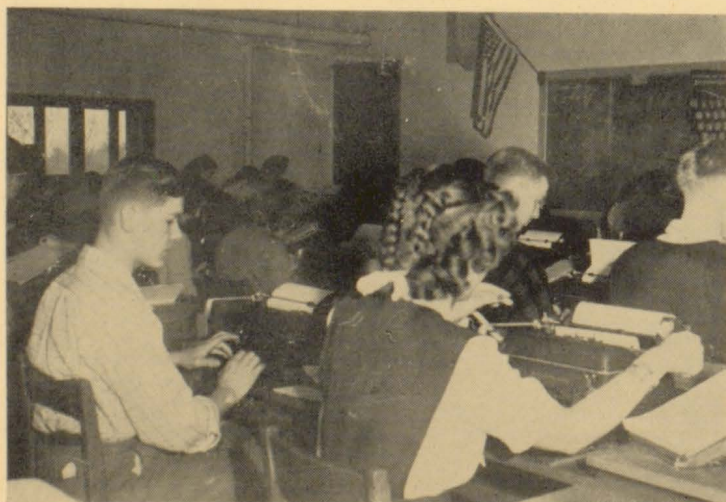

The many assemblies which we have at East High not only serve as a means of entertainment, but also educate us along lines which are not included in the classroom studies.

It is in classes such as this that the students of East High have gained the knowledge which makes them the great English scholars that they are.

Panel discussions like the one above are an interesting way to study history problems.

These students are diligently practising the art of typing, which teaches them not only how to operate the typewriter, but also gives them coordination.

particularly true of the pep assemblies which seem to make every student very gay and peppy. For Thanksgiving, Christmas, and many of the other holidays, some beautiful and interesting programs are presented. Besides these regular assemblies there are frequently special assemblies of various educational and recreational types. The alumni all seem to count the assemblies among their fondest memories of school life.

Then much to the sorrow of the "inmates" of East High, they are compelled to return to class. Let us first venture into an English class to see what is happening. Why look, the class is dramatizing a play by Shakespeare. This is apparently a senior English class, since that is when Shakespeare is studied. All of these students have English as an elective. The tenth and eleventh grades are required to take English.

In English 3 and 4 the literature which is studied consists of stories, essays, biographies, and other types of literature written by authors of various nationalities. Besides this there is, of course, the grammar. In English 5 and 6 the authors of America and their writings are studied. Then there is grammar and rhetoric to be mastered. The writers of England are studied by the students of English 7 and 8. The study of literature of both England and the United States is taken from the beginnings of the group up until the modern times.

The next class we will look into is a history class. History is also required for two out of the three years in East High, but this is the eleventh and twelfth grades. World History may be taken in the tenth grade or in any of the other two grades. History 5 and 6 is American History. A thorough study is made of the beginnings, growth, and development of the United States. History 7 and 8 is the study of American Problems in which many of the political and social problems of America are studied.

11:00 a. m.

What is all the tapping in this next room? Let's go in to find out. Why look, all those students are typing. It sure makes a lot of clatter when there are so many machines going at once. Typing is the most popular of the many commercial subjects offered. Some of the others are shorthand, bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic, and several others.

The next classes we will visit are some of the mathematics classes. Math is one of the most important of the academic subjects. The courses offered range from Math 1 and 2, which is first year algebra, to Math 8, which is trigonometry. In

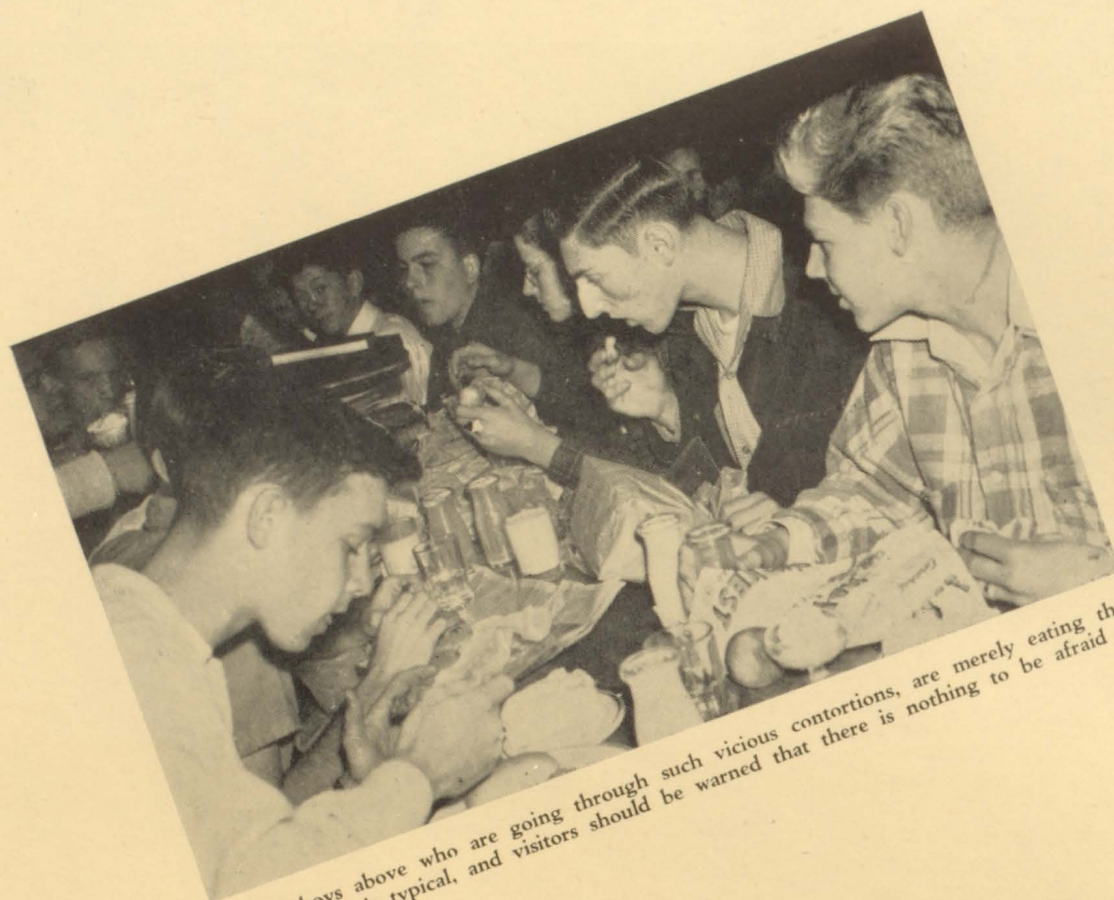

The study of polyhedrons, and other such illustrative figures in solid geometry play an important part in the development of the mind.

Classes in language such as the Spanish class pictured above, not only teach the language, but also the customs and history of the countries in which the language is spoken.

between we find Math 3 and 4, plane geometry, which is usually taken by the tenth grade students. Math 5 is advanced algebra. Math 6 is solid geometry, which involves many complex figures. Math 7 is college algebra. This is a still further continuation of the other algebras. And as we have already said, Math 8 is trigonometry. The mathematics courses are essential in the education of those who aspire toward a career in engineering, science, aeronautics, and the many other fascinating and worthwhile careers which wait for the young people of today.

We have time to visit just one more type of class before the lunch hour begins. Let us see how the language classes operate. At the present time two languages, Latin and Spanish, are offered at East High. Many colleges require two years of language for entrance, and the knowledge of languages is also vital in many careers. The fact that much is learned of the customs and people make languages more interesting.

The boys above who are going through such vicious contortions, are merely eating their lunch. This is typical, and visitors should be warned that there is nothing to be afraid of.

12:00 noon

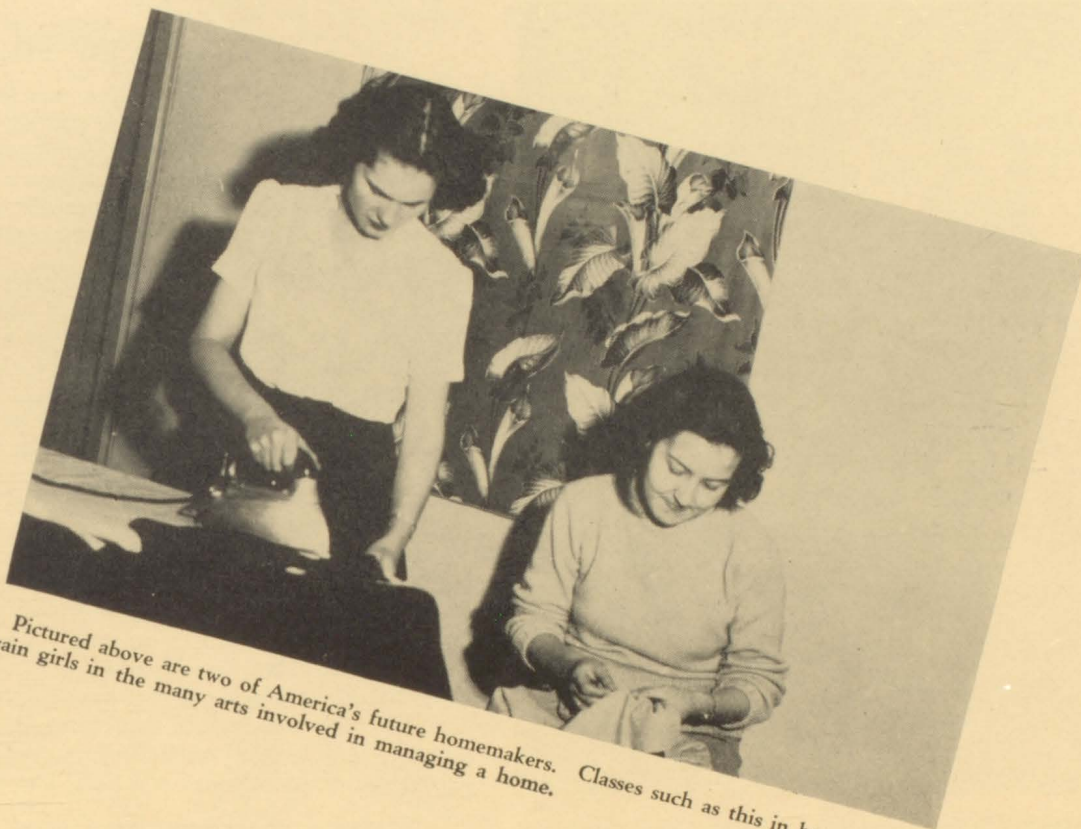

When the bell rings at noon, telling us that it's lunch time, most of the students make a mad rush for the lunchroom, being driven on by the pangs of hunger and starvation. Students may buy their lunch if they wish, from the school cafeteria, which serves excellent, well-balanced meals at a minimum cost. Those who do not wish to buy may bring their lunch. When most of the pupils are seated, a gong sounds, which is the signal for a moment of silence before continuing with their lunch.

After eating, they next go to the candy counter, where candy bars, peanuts, and many other such nourishing snacks can be purchased. Most of the students are now ready to go to the noon movie. A Fellowship Club meets during the noon hour for those who do not wish to go to the noon movie.

This is where many of the girls get their lunch and the boys add to theirs. Although the girls do not appear as ravenous in the lunch room, their love for food is revealed at the candy counter.

Upon returning from our noon period, we next make a visit to the girls' homemaking class. In these classes, the girls are taught the every-day tasks of keeping a home, such as cooking, sewing, ironing, and many other such useful arts of homemaking.

Another class in which every-day problems of a different nature are met, is the biology class. Here a study of life is made, starting with the most minute living cell, and coming up through the highest form of life, man. The knowledge gained in these classes is very adaptable to one's own life, because of such other studies as a proper diet and healthful living, which are also included in the course.

This is a splendid way to see what makes one tick. Of course it is very painful unless you are a dummy like the biology torso pictured above.

Besides training the mind, two periods a week are spent in physical education classes such as the one above.

Biology is not the only class in science taught at East High. Physics and chemistry are also taught. These subjects, like biology, are very adaptable to one's everyday living. In physics the laws of energy and motion are taught, which in simpler terms, are those natural laws that keep everything running so smoothly in this world, that most people don't even give them a thought, such as what makes water boil, or why does a ball roll down hill?

In chemistry we study the physical elements and the laws which govern their relations; or in language not quite so scientific, we study the basic principles around which our modern lives revolve. Those students who have taken chemistry never need to ask questions like, "Why does a black cow eat green grass and give white milk?" It's plain to see that the students in the science classes will have a much better understanding of what goes on around them.

Next we go to the gym classes where our young people are taught not only to develop their minds, but also to develop their bodies in such games as football or baseball.

Included in the curriculum of our school are also some technical courses, which prepare our boys directly for their jobs of tomorrow. Such courses as woodworking, shop, auto-mechanics, and mechanical drawing furnish a good background for any boy, whether or not he plans to continue in this line later on in life.

The fine-arts department of our school includes a great number of valuable courses. If a student is interested in music, he may enter any one of the many useful musical organizations in our school, and take it just as he would take any other class. East High is always proud of its fine band when they see it come marching down the street, but this is only part of the instrumental department. There is also a fine orchestra which does much concert work, too. Those interested in singing may join the boys' or girls' glee club, chorus, or choir. These groups also do a great deal of concert work.

The art department at East High furnishes classes in art and crafts. An excellent chance is given for students to do their own creative work, giving them very good training in using their heads.

Public speaking and dramatics are included in our dramatics course. Besides presenting school plays every semester, these classes give students very good experience in expressing themselves audibly in ways more pleasing to their listeners. Members of the dramatics classes also have the pleasure of presenting their own small plays in class.

The bell which rings at 3:30, telling us that it's time to go home, wakens part of us and gives us new life, so that we can catch up with those who are sitting on the edge of their seats waiting for it to ring. We hurry to our lockers, put on our wraps, and rush outside. The rushing ceases as we come out of the doors, for we realize that once again we have come through a day at school without having to stay in.

After meeting our friends at the drug store and talking over the day at school, we go home for dinner. Some students are lucky enough to have cars, or reasonable facsimiles of them. The other students either walk or ride the streetcars home, but no matter how we get there, we all hurry a little faster tonight, because tonight is the night of our big football game and we must get cleaned up in time to be at the stadium early.

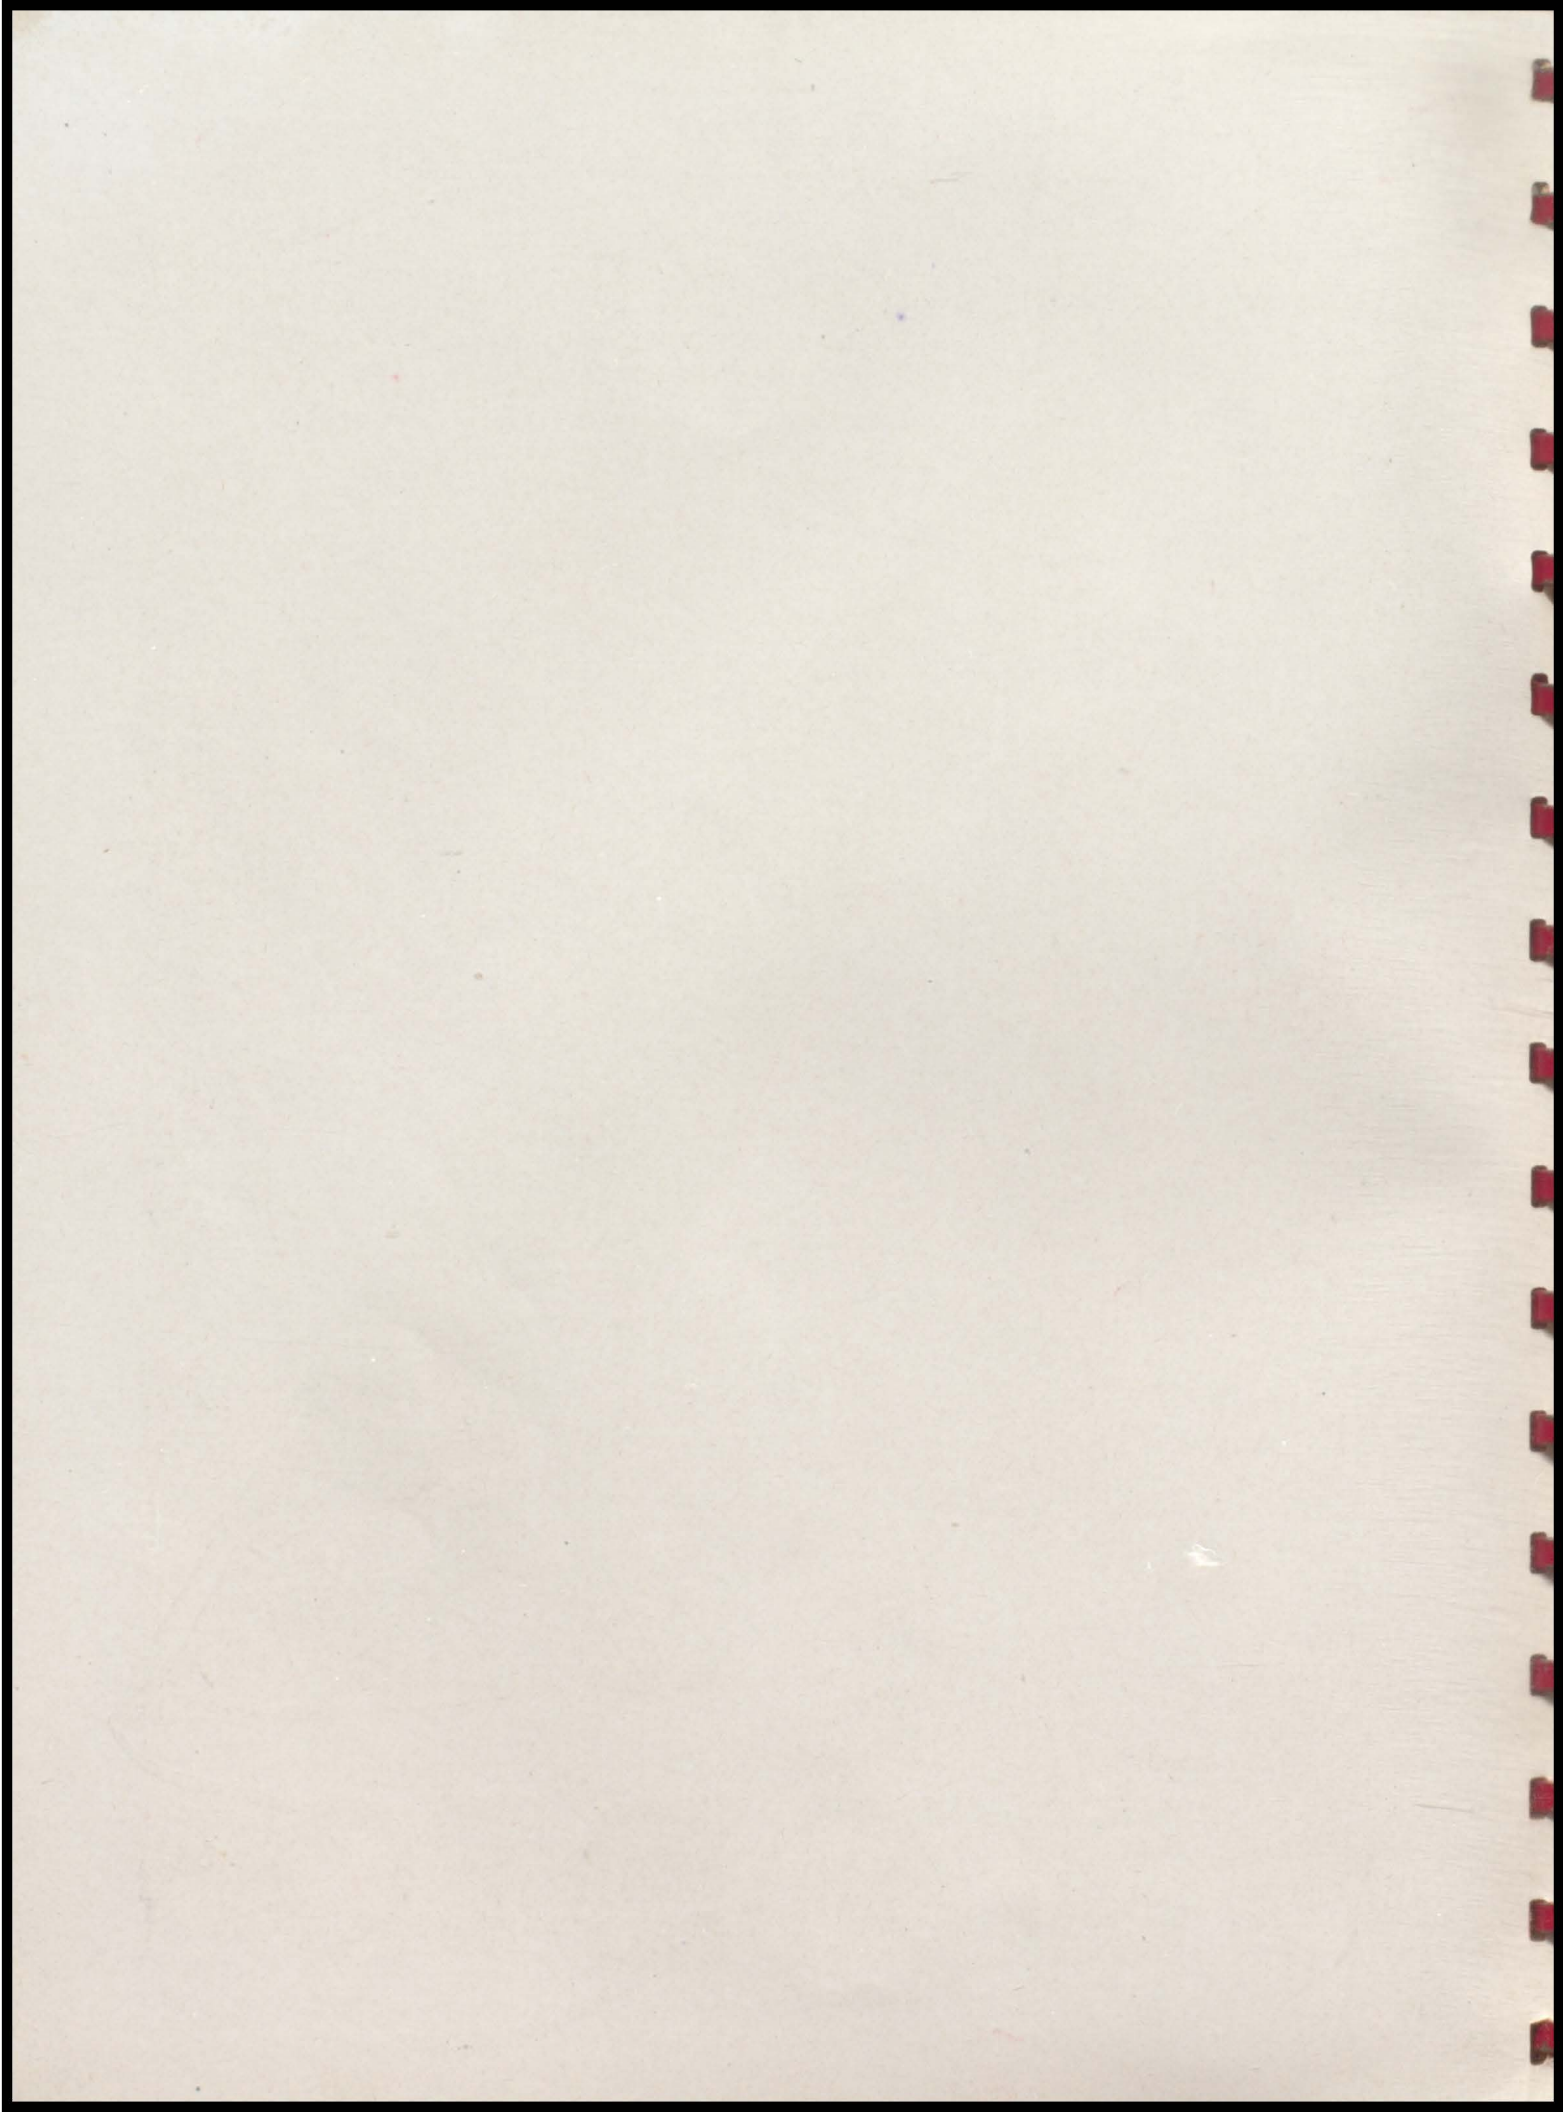

Although many pupils walk home, some students ride in such modern conveyances as this.

Of all the activities connected with the school, the most popular, by far, are the afternoon and evening football games.

Scarlet & Black Review

Gridders Make Good Season's Record

City Series Standings

	W.	L.	Pct.
North	3	0	1.000
East	2	1	.667
Roosevelt	1	2	.333
Lincoln	0	3	.000

North Takes Final

Fighting a fatal tendency to fumble, East's dauntless gridgers were set back in defeat by a powerhouse Polar Bear outfit, 18-6 before a record crowd of 17,000 at Drake Stadium. The Scarlet line and backfield looked good throughout the game, but their efforts were thwarted repeatedly by fumbles, pass interceptions, and penalties. East's 6 points were earned as Jack Rider smacked over in the closing 40 seconds. This is the first time in four years that a Polar Bear Squad has scored on a Scarlet team.

Scarlet 25 Riders 6

East High kept their city title hopes alive as they set back a fighting Roughrider eleven, 25-6 before 7,500 fans at Drake Stadium. Although the statistics did not show East's superiority, the Scarlet came through when it counted to rack up four touchdowns, each in a spectacular manner. Markers came as Hadley tossed a bell ringer to Brown, Ratton scampered 25 yards, Peters intercepted a Roosevelt heave, and Caplan fielded a pass from Hadley for a 52 yard touchdown jaunt in the closing minute.

Three On All-City

This year's all-city football team, selected by the sports department of the Tribune included three Lee Township gridgers. Hall Ratton, flashy scatback, snagged a halfback post, with Arnold Caplan and James Brown garnering the end positions.

Dodgers Trip East In Thriller 19 to 13

The onslaught of such all-state backs, as Henry Wasam, George Constantine, and Merrill Leffler proved too much for the determined East gridmen as they saw a 7-6 half-time lead melt into a 19-13 victory for the Dodgers. The spirited Scarlet team, playing one of their finest games, saw their hopes dashed in the third quarter as Fort Dodge pushed over two additional touchdowns, enough to set back the Lee Men. A 31 yard Hadley to Peters pass in the first quarter and a 10 yard plunge by Ratton with 45 seconds to go provided East's total.

East 26 Lincoln 0

Hungry for victory meat, after three straight losses, East High soundly demonstrated superiority over an underdog Abe team in the City Series opener at Drake Stadium. The final score was 26-0. The scoring column was dented in the first quarter on a blocked kick recovery by Ned Newton. From there the Scarlet proceeded to one tally in each quarter with a two yard plunge by Ratton, a pass from Hadley to Dutton and a 29 yard run by Guy Grimes.

Valley Tumbles

East High's powerful but untested eleven had little trouble in downing a scrappy Valley team 18-0 in the season's opener at Valley Stadium. The lightweight Indian squad was completely outclassed as speedy Hall Ratton struck from far out in both the first and second quarters to produce touchdowns. Bob Peters also felt pay dirt in the initial canto. Buntz, Judkins, Rider and Brown were additional standouts for East.

Oskey Falls 25 to 0

Climaxing a 31 year old rivalry, the Scarlet gridiron masters of 1945 waded through the mud of the Os-kaloosa field and smeared the Indians with a 25-0 pasting. Touchdowns were made in various ways by Brown, Rider, Peters, and Newton. Although East countered once in each quarter, Oskey was found stubborn in the first half as they stopped two additional attempts which reached the 10 yard marker.

Powerhouse Trojans Drop East 41 to 12

John Hollingsworth, fullback from East Waterloo, showed his teeth to the tune of a 41-12 defeat for the East High machine at East Stadium. Hollingsworth was very impressive as he figured in 28, 59, 33, and 93 yard touchdown runs and a pass to end Seidler for an additional marker. Ratton-Caplan and Hadley-Brown passes produced the Lee counters. Looking best for the discouraged squad of Scarlet gridgers were Judkins, Buntz, Caplan, and Brown in the line, and Hadley, Rider, and Ratton in the backfield.

Scarlet Fails 7 to 6

Minus the services of two of the season's standouts, Jim Brown and Hall Ratton, the Scarlet journeyed to Mason City, only to be set back, 7-6. Leaving the field with a 6-0 halftime edge, made possible by Jack Rider's 16 yard jaunt, East was soon to learn that their failure to convert would cost them a tie. In the third period, Secory, Mohawk fullback, plunged six yards, and then converted in the same manner to win the game.

Canaries

The boys pictured here will compose the championship football teams of East High during the next two years. Ably coached by Mr. Charles Gregory, these fellows showed much strength as they fought the various city opponents for the second team city title. They fell short, however, in the last game as they went down in defeat to a powerful Roosevelt squad. In addition to their regular schedule, the boys traveled to Newton where they tangled with the Newton reserves.

COACH GREGORY

Cross Country

Running mile upon mile through rain, snow, and cold, night after night, is the task that faces the loyal members of the cross country team pictured here. Although rated as a secondary sport at East, the harrier teams have always proved very worthy of carrying the Lee banner. The squad managed to grab second in every test with Paul Sloan, outstanding distance runner in the state, snagging the blue ribbon at every opportunity.

Wrestling

Facing a rough and tough schedule, these grunt and groaners have been working out since the football season closed, trying for the honor of a position on the Red and Black wrestling team. Three veteran monogram winners, Al De Bakey, Ed Jones, and Jerry Pike, bolster Coach Gregory's hopes as he prepares the men for gruelling contests with North, Waterloo, Clarion, Fort Dodge, and other powerhouse Iowa outfits.

Swimming

Bolstered with the services of 3 returning lettermen, this year's paddlers have high hopes of regaining some of the swimming fame which has been absent from East High for so many years. Coach Scotty Russell puts the boys through their paces each night as they prepare for several meets which are held in the Roosevelt, Lincoln, and North tanks. The squad is capably captained by Paul Larson, a two year letter winner who specializes in the back stroke.

Tennis

Another group of little renowned athletes at East High is the fall tennis team. The boys participated in a single encounter which was the fall city meet held at the Birdland courts. East placed second with Van Dreser and Plaisted being eliminated in the finals of the doubles and Thomas, Sargent, and Hartung gaining the semifinals. With the experience thus gained, East should go into the spring season with a fine team.

Golf

Lack of returning lettermen and student support were the hazards faced by Gus Rump who replaced Alvin Hostetter as tutor of the golf squad of East High. These boys have spent many hours practicing drives, approaches, putts, etc. in preparation for a single encounter, the City Meet held at the Waveland links. Mr. Rump has done a commendable job of creating interest in this sport, and great things are expected of the golf team in the future.

COACH

Basketball--Varsity

The City and Big Seven titles were the laurels eyed by these stalwart sharpshooters as they went into practice in late November. As the Quill went to press the squad had not been tested, but Mike has patterned a fine team, and it can be seen that their goals can be realized with plenty of fight and lots of loyal support from the student body.

Second Team

Pictured here is the second basketball team for the 1945-46 season. The boys are weeded from some 30 or 40 aspirants at the beginning of the season and they can be seen practicing diligently any afternoon from 3:30 to 4:15 under the direction of our capable coach, Mike Augustine. The squad this year faces a schedule almost identical to that of the varsity team.

Managers

Rushing to and fro at the slightest whim of the East High coaches and athletes is this loyal group of student managers. These fellows (affectionately called "cage monkeys") can be seen at every athletic event and at all practices helping our athletes in every possible way. Many hours of hard work are represented in the monogram which they receive in their senior year.

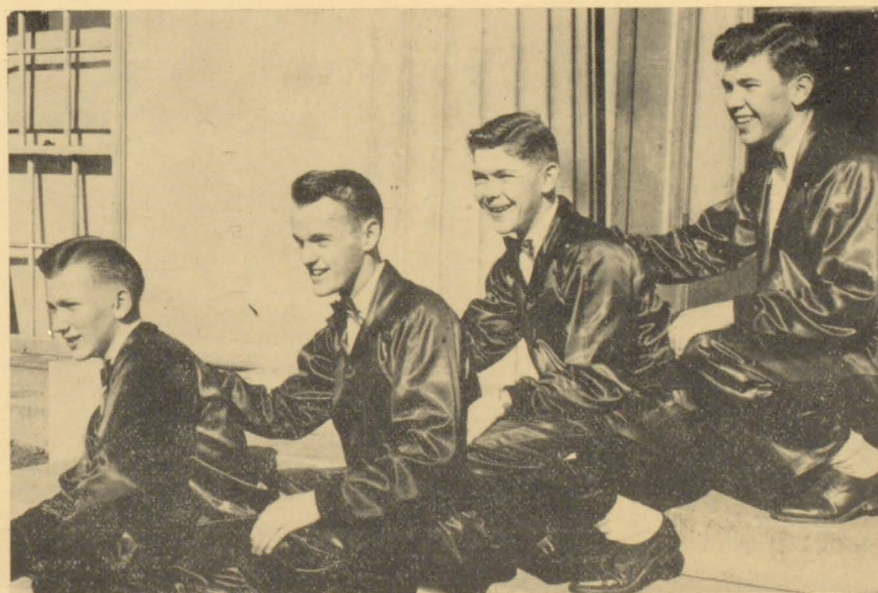

Cheerleaders

Rah, Rah, Hooray! Yea, team! In case you don't realize it, these are some of the mumble jumble expressions used by our cheerleaders. Those gaudily dressed fellows can be seen at games and assemblies doing their best to cheer on a winning team, or encourage a losing squad. So let's repay those loyal pepsters by really yelling our lungs out for our team.

G. A. A.

The assembly cheers as the girl comes off the stage holding a hard-earned award, the G.A.A. monogram. She has a nice trim figure due to the many hours of participation in all types of sports. She would not have this award if it were not for her great amount of determination. Any girl can get a monogram is she has that quality. It takes 300 points to get a numeral and 500 points for a real letter. The different ways to make points are: participation in sports, leadership, service, posture, personal standards, and conduct. So let's give these girls a word of congratulation for they certainly deserve it.

Girls' Tennis Team

Dashing back and forth swinging their rackets with accuracy and speed are our girls' tennis team at practice. Twice a week after school they practice perfecting their skill. This fall they tied for second in the city meet. Next spring with all but one of the squad back they are expected to go places.

Girls' Golf Team

These are the pellet pushers who represent East High as the fall Girls' Golf Team. The team is allowed to practice free twice weekly at Grandview course in preparation for the City Fall Tournament held at the Waveland links. With the experience thus gained, the girls are viewing a potent squad in the semester to come.
